How to Make Buildings Fire Proof.

Since the destruction of the business portion of Chicago, which was composed of buildings of every kind of material, both of inflammable and fire-proof, all which were indiscriminately burned together in such a manner that the latter were either fused or disintegrated, by the combustion of the former, engineers, architects and scientific journals strongly advocate the necessity of an immediate change in the construction of buildings, streets and cities throughout the country. They point out the fallacy of planning fire-proof buildings in the midst of inflammable structures, and also of classing brick, stone or iron buildings among fire-proof, when the interior is composed of inflammable materials. They condemn the saturation of wood with resin for preserving it, and advocate its preparation with any of the reliable fire-proof solutions before being used for building purposes or interior fittings. They also strongly recommend the business portion of cities to be composed of artificial stone, brick or iron, giving the preference to the former as by far the most suitable, durable, best appearing and economical.

There is, moreover, a plan to compel all those erecting frame structures to impregnate the wood with any of the well known fire-proof solutions, and also to similarly protect all frame buildings already in existence. It is claimed that if this compulsory portion of Chicago had been thus protected no such conflagration could have taken place. The cost of preserving timber in this manner is so comparatively trifling that it would not be felt even in the cheapest class of dwellings. Most people have no faith in rendering wood fire-proof, owing probably to the numerous patent competitions which have proved utter failures. There are, however, a great many well-known preparations which are thoroughly reliable and economical. One of the best is that adopted by the British Government. Several heavy logs of seasoned timber were prepared with two successive coatings, first of liquid glass and then of common lime wash. After being dried the timber was exposed in the navy yard to the weather for one year to test the solubility of the preparation in water. At the end of this time, being perfectly dried, the logs were submitted to the action of intensely hot steam for several consecutive days. When they were taken out the interior was considerably charred, but otherwise the timber was found thoroughly fire-proof, and would not ignite at any temperature. Liquid glass alone is soluble in water, but when lime wash is added it forms an insoluble film of time which is not only insoluble but will only fuse at temperatures far above that of molten iron. Both of these materials are so cheap that the two coatings can be put on at one-fourth the cost of the cheapest paint. Nor would it spoil the appearance of any building, as in skillful hands the highest style of artistic effect could be given by the proper admixture of coloring matter, both for exterior and interior decorations. Roofs, window frames, lathings, shutters, doors, and in fact the entire work of a building could be thus protected at a cost far below that of ordinary paint.

One great advantage of this preparation consists in its not being patented, and in its having been thoroughly tested. With reference to the erection of business blocks, where large quantities of inflammable material is constantly stored, and also of the better class of dwelling houses, artificial stone has been given the preference. In Europe they are Portland cement and sand for this purpose, but a much cheaper and far superior article is now used in this country. The ingredients are oxide of magnesia and sand, made into a paste with bittern water, and then pressed into molds. It sets rapidly, is not liable to crack, it becomes extremely indurated, and when the cement is mixed with marble dust the blocks are susceptible of as high a polish as the best Italian marble, and the difference cannot be detected, except by chemical tests. There are twenty-five large makers of this material known in New York, and all that it is necessary to produce the oxide, is to burn the natural rock as limestone is burned, grind it to powder, and it is ready for mixing. The blocks for building are made hollow, so as to save material, or the walls are tamped hollow, as the case may be. A whole street with fronts deeply ornamented in the highest style of architecture, can thus be moulded together in less time, and with less labor, than it takes to build a single ordinary edifice of cut stone.

ON OUR first page we give President Grant's proclamation for the suspension of the habeas corpus, pursuant to the power vested in him by act of Congress, for the security of life and property in parts of the Southern States, and for the dispersion and punishment of armed and secret bands of conspirators, engaged in disturbing the peace of society, interrupting regular industry, and inaugurating a system of political terrorism hardly less mischievous at the present time than a state of chronic war. It is not by milk and water measures that such political evils can be put down, but by prompt and summary measures of detection and punishment. Those who seek the existence and end operations of the Ku Klux are recommended to study the reports of the Investigative Committee, of which Senator Scott is chairman, extracts of which we have frequently given in these columns, and the constitution of the order, which will be found on our first page this morning.

The West Chester Jeffersonian, the spirited organ of the Democracy of Chester county, goes in for a "new deal" for leaders of the party. It is not satisfied with such men as those who have for a few years past got on the platform, planned the campaigns and directed the movements of the Democracy. It wants at the head of the organization men of more ability and honesty, whose fidelity to the principles of the party can be relied upon. "We must have," it says, "a new deal, and such fourth-rate politicians as Wallace, Randall, Myers, Cassidy & Co., mean to going to take back seats and be satisfied with that. They have already given them. They are being no strength to our organization, but on the contrary, like the horse-leech, are sucking the life-blood out of it. They have been poisoners upon the party without ever having merited a pension. For years past they have organized and managed the campaigns only to bring defeat and disaster. Let us have men of ability, men who will command the confidence and respect of all parties, to lead us, and we can readily carry this state by 30,000 majority. Let us have a man like H. H. Reister Olymper for our next chairman, a man who is above either

PROBABILITY OF TWEED'S FLIGHT.
NEW YORK, Nov. 14. The probability of Tweed fleeing from the city is still a subject of much discussion, and it is stated on very reliable authority that he has about decided on his arrangements for flight, and that any money he may witness his departure. Yesterday he was said to be trying to dispose of his stock in the Erie Railroad. Well informed Tammanyites think it will take him some time to transfer his great wealth, but it is definitely known that, if not all, his property has been made ready for a change. He has built, for a long time past, and that his money assignments will make it a matter of ease for him to leave on short notice. Tweed's flight is believed to be in the hands of Mayor Hall and will probably be made public in a few days. No selection has yet been made to fill his place, though the mayor has been endeavoring to force the office upon several. There is much difficulty in wanting one to succeed him, as he is a very popular man, and no one is willing to take his place. Several important plans have recently been made vacant. There is so little hope between now and the meeting of the legislature, which is expected that the whole government of the city will be reconstituted, that it is likely the vacancies existing in the city will be filled.

THE FISH-MANSLAYING CASE.
In the Fish-Manslaying case, Judge Brady, of this city, granted cause to show why Judge Pratt's order, recalling the case to Brooklyn, should not be set aside. The case is now before the court, and a committee of twenty-one to prepare and draft an amendment required to a judicial proceeding and laws relating to judicial proceedings is being formed. The committee was instructed to inquire into the charges affecting the administrative justice of this city, and to report thereon to the next session of the Committee on Extension. The committee was directed to inquire into the charges affecting the administrative justice of this city, and to report thereon to the next session of the Committee on Extension.

THE LOSS OF THE SHREDDERS.
A Honolulu letter of the 24th gives the particulars of the loss of the American ship Shredder, which was wrecked on the coast of Hawaii on the 10th of July. All of the crew died on the wreck, and when the steamship Messy Taylor fell in with her on the 10th of October Captain Taylor, who was on board, saw the wreck and forty-six passengers captured from hunger and hardship. Ashley Crane and Chas. Davis, of San Francisco, were the only Americans seen.

THE BROOKLYN FRAUDS.
A member of the Brooklyn Investigative Committee states the evidence is conclusive that Mr. Booth, Republican, for mayor, was counted out fraudulently. The Brooklyn Board of Aldermen yesterday voted to impeach the committee of five, and find evidence of fraud they have notified election inspectors to appear before them.

THE DEMOCRATIC REFORM ORGANIZATION.
It has been determined to make the Appleton National Reform Organization, under whose auspices the late campaign was principally conducted, the legal institution of the Democracy of New York. In the new organization all the political elements of the Democracy will be embraced. Those who have been prominent in connection with Tammany, and who will be excluded from membership. Since the election honest men are fast leaving Tammany, whose power seems to be completely overthrown. It is understood that Samuel G. Croton, the chairman of the committee of the new organization, The Reform leaders are receiving hundreds of communications from all over the state, and in the west and north of the state urging the formation of a new organization upon a reform basis, and rejoicing in the downfall of corrupt Tammany.

A Honolulu letter of the 24th gives the particulars of the loss of the American ship Shredder, which was wrecked on the coast of Hawaii on the 10th of July. All of the crew died on the wreck, and when the steamship Messy Taylor fell in with her on the 10th of October Captain Taylor, who was on board, saw the wreck and forty-six passengers captured from hunger and hardship. Ashley Crane and Chas. Davis, of San Francisco, were the only Americans seen.

THE BROOKLYN FRAUDS.
A member of the Brooklyn Investigative Committee states the evidence is conclusive that Mr. Booth, Republican, for mayor, was counted out fraudulently. The Brooklyn Board of Aldermen yesterday voted to impeach the committee of five, and find evidence of fraud they have notified election inspectors to appear before them.

THE DEMOCRATIC REFORM ORGANIZATION.
It has been determined to make the Appleton National Reform Organization, under whose auspices the late campaign was principally conducted, the legal institution of the Democracy of New York. In the new organization all the political elements of the Democracy will be embraced. Those who have been prominent in connection with Tammany, and who will be excluded from membership. Since the election honest men are fast leaving Tammany, whose power seems to be completely overthrown. It is understood that Samuel G. Croton, the chairman of the committee of the new organization, The Reform leaders are receiving hundreds of communications from all over the state, and in the west and north of the state urging the formation of a new organization upon a reform basis, and rejoicing in the downfall of corrupt Tammany.

From New York.

PROBABILITY OF TWEED'S FLIGHT.
NEW YORK, Nov. 14. The probability of Tweed fleeing from the city is still a subject of much discussion, and it is stated on very reliable authority that he has about decided on his arrangements for flight, and that any money he may witness his departure. Yesterday he was said to be trying to dispose of his stock in the Erie Railroad. Well informed Tammanyites think it will take him some time to transfer his great wealth, but it is definitely known that, if not all, his property has been made ready for a change. He has built, for a long time past, and that his money assignments will make it a matter of ease for him to leave on short notice. Tweed's flight is believed to be in the hands of Mayor Hall and will probably be made public in a few days. No selection has yet been made to fill his place, though the mayor has been endeavoring to force the office upon several. There is much difficulty in wanting one to succeed him, as he is a very popular man, and no one is willing to take his place. Several important plans have recently been made vacant. There is so little hope between now and the meeting of the legislature, which is expected that the whole government of the city will be reconstituted, that it is likely the vacancies existing in the city will be filled.

THE FISH-MANSLAYING CASE.
In the Fish-Manslaying case, Judge Brady, of this city, granted cause to show why Judge Pratt's order, recalling the case to Brooklyn, should not be set aside. The case is now before the court, and a committee of twenty-one to prepare and draft an amendment required to a judicial proceeding and laws relating to judicial proceedings is being formed. The committee was instructed to inquire into the charges affecting the administrative justice of this city, and to report thereon to the next session of the Committee on Extension. The committee was directed to inquire into the charges affecting the administrative justice of this city, and to report thereon to the next session of the Committee on Extension.
